

August 30, 2020

Heidelberg Family,

The transition to a “new normal” semester continues. Tomorrow seated classes begin. Those classes on your schedule that have a seated component, whether fully seated or hybrid, begin tomorrow. Please check your schedule and/or emails from your professors to know if your class meets in a classroom tomorrow.

Dining continues to move forward. This week, we will continue all take-out with the goal of opening seated dining next week. Once again, those of you who are on the unlimited meal plan can stop at multiple stations and get separate to-go containers as well as return later to go through the line as often as you would like. Following is a schedule of dining times and options for the week.

We will continue to give updates as things evolve. These are exciting steps forward in our progression for a great semester. We look forward to seeing a vibrant campus beginning tomorrow morning. Please don't forget to fill out your daily health self-assessment, wear your mask, and keep good physical distancing. These important steps, along with refraining from large gatherings (10 or more people) on- or off-campus, are the keys to our successful semester!

Go Berg!
