The moment you have been waiting for is finally here! The first round of housing placements have been made. Students who have completed a housing application can now login to the MyHousing portal of OASIS to view their housing placement. There are some important steps that you should take now that your housing has been assigned.

Contact your Roommate

We encourage you to login and see who your roommate is. For many students, you may already know them, but for some, this may be a new friend. While our housing application does its best to match you up, there's no better way to start things off than by reaching out and talking to each other.

Start Planning

We also encourage you to start having conversations about what it might be like to live together. When you arrive to campus, your Resident Assistant will work with you to create a Roommate Agreement so that you and your new roommate can begin to set the ground rules on what it will be like to share space. One important piece of information you should know is that Heidelberg allows one microwave and one mini-fridge per room. Many students will agree that one roommate will bring one item, while the other will provide another. We strongly suggest talking about what items you can bring to make your room feel right at home. Here is a list of some suggestions on what to bring and what not to bring.

Commuter Students

As a reminder, you must complete and return the Commuter Housing Application and Good Neighbor Policy to the Office of Residence Life & Housing by the start of classes, if you have not already done so. To qualify for Commuter Status, you must live at the primary residence of a Parent or Guardian and live within 35 miles of campus.

Contact Residence Life Early

If you have questions or concerns about your housing placement, we first suggest checking out some of the resources on our website as those may very well answer some of your questions. If you have a question or concern that cannot be answered there, we recommend contacting the Office of Residence Life & Housing sooner rather than later. The closer we get to Move In Day the more difficult it might be to address things.

We hope you are as excited as we are to welcome you to campus this fall! Enjoy the rest of the summer while we work to make campus read for your exciting arrival.
