Heidelberg is made up of the stories of the amazing people who work, learn, and live here, so we sat down with graduating student Kathryn Iwanek to hear her story and why she chose Heidelberg.

I chose to attend Heidelberg because of the small size, welcoming atmosphere, and the incredible science departments. The opportunities students are given are unusual for a school Heidelberg's size and I knew it would be a place I could succeed and grow as a person.

I was a Biology major. After graduation I will be attending the Cleveland Clinic's School of Cytotechnology at the main campus in Cleveland, Ohio for their post-baccalaureate program to become a certified Cytotechnologist. Cytotechnologists specialize in the microscopic evaluation of cellular samples for the detection and diagnosis of human disease.

My favorite things from my time at Heidelberg were my extracurriculars. I enjoyed being able to be involved in many organizations outside of the classroom and I believe it helped me become better at managing time, build leadership skills and communicate with people outside of my area of study. I was in the nationally recognized Chem Club. Student Senate and a part of Greek Life. Greek Life is very unique at Heidelberg and I was honored to be a part of my sorority, Delta Sigma Chi, and a corollary member of the fraternity Nu Sigma Alpha. I encourage all incoming students to get involved in something on campus because it makes your time at Heidelberg so much more fun and will help you in the future.

The thing I'll miss most is the campus itself! Heidelberg became my home away from home. I lived on campus all four years and during the summers while worked in the offices and was an Orientation Leader. Campus is beautiful year-round and the people there make it even better.
